STATE WOULD IGNORE 'SHAKEDOWN'

Spy Probers Say Stolen Information Includes Military Data For Soviets

WASHINGTON, Dec. 10 — House spy probers revealed today that important military information useful to Russia was contained in the government documents stolen for transmission to Moscow.

This development became known as the House Un-American Activities Committee awaited the arrival of the second "mystery" witness accused of having furnished the documents to ex-Communist Whittaker Chambers.

The committee has directed William Ward Pigman, of Appleton, Wis., to appear for questioning today. Pigman was requested to appear voluntarily. Otherwise, a U. S. marshal will be asked to serve a subpoena on him.

Pigman was reported en route to Washington to appear before the committee. His wife said he had left in answer to "a telephone summons."

Now a research chemist at the Institute of Paper Chemistry, Pigman, reached in Appleton last night, denied Chambers' charges.

Committee sources stated that Pigman was named by Chambers as one of four men in the government who turned over to him in 1937 and 1938 documents from the State Department and other federal agencies for the Soviet government.

The others, all named in secret testimony last Monday night in New York, were Alger Hiss, ex-State Department official, who has denied the charge; Henry Julian Wadleigh, 44, who worked with Hiss; and an unidentified individual now dead. Wadleigh pleaded constitutional immunity yesterday and declined to confirm or deny the charge when questioned before the committee.

Committee sources revealed that some of the stolen documents found in microfilm form in a hollow pumpkin on Chambers' Maryland farm disclosed:

1. Secret messages from Paris to the State Department regarding British plans for construction of battleships and cruisers.
2. Extremely confidential messages to the State Department regarding troop movements in the Sino-Japanese war.
3. Coded documents regarding German purchases of linseed oil, valuable for war purposes, in Argentina at "excessive" prices.
4. Secret messages dealing with German attempts, subsequently successful.

to the best mystery-story tradition, keeps the United States government closely informed on the espionage activities of other nations, with Soviet Russia No. 1 on the list.

They assert that such thefts of secret documents as those disclosed by Whittaker Chambers, "reformed" Communist agent, would now be impossible.

These men point out that a rigid tightening of American security began before World War II. That process is constantly being overhauled, reviewed, and perfected.

Intelligence officials freely admit that some of the methods used are of such a "cloak-and-dagger" nature that they border on the fantastic.

Churchill Demands British Recognize Israel And Spain

LONDON, Dec. 10 — Winston Churchill demanded today that Britain end its "sulky boycott" of Palestine Jews and immediately grant recognition to Israel.

The wartime British premier, in a full-dress foreign affairs review before the House of Commons, simultaneously called for full diplomatic recognition of Franco Spain.

With regard to Russia, he said the West must reach a settlement with the Soviets "before they have the atomic bomb."

Churchill blasted the Labor Government's handling of the Palestine dispute as "a lamentable tale of prejudice and incapacity."

He claimed that Foreign Minister Ernest Bevin had "misjudged" the power of the two sides and had counted on the Arabs to win. Churchill added that he never shared this opinion.

CLOAK-DAGGER METHODS America's Secrets Safe Now, Officials Claim

WASHINGTON, Dec. 10 — Officials responsible for safeguarding America's secrets are confident today that they have developed a system as spy-proof as man can make it.

Liquor Boss Tosses Issue Back Here

State Liquor Director Dale Dunifon Friday tossed Circleville's alleged liquor bribery and enforcement problems back into the hands of Pickaway County authorities.

Scouts Fixing Toys To Give To Unfortunates

There'll be no empty stockings hanging over Circleville fireplaces this Christmas Eve if 15 of Santa's helpers in Boy Scout Troop 232 are able to get the city's cooperation.

Unfortunately there are always a few children who awake on Christmas Morn and, with tear-filled eyes, discover Old Saint Nick in his rush has forgotten them.

Troop No. 232 wants to cut down that list. But it needs the help of Circleville residents. The Scouts want used or broken toys and some good ones too—so that some little tot will not be disappointed this year.

Scoutmaster Vic Oesterling has sent word around town that any kind of toy which can be made usable should be turned over to the Scouts at Trinity Lutheran Parish House.

Santa's troopers with hammer, nail, glue and patching are fast at work mending broken and damaged wagons, dolls, trains, scooters and carts for delivery on Christmas Eve.

Oesterling says work already has begun on some toys, "but we need many more if we're to make sure there is enough to go around to all the needy families in the community."

If delivery cannot be made, any one with toys who will give them up so all the kids can have a Merry Christmas, have been advised to call Harold Anderson at 417 or Fritz Seivert, chairman of the Committee, at 145-L.

As Santa's chief helpers in Circleville, the Boy Scouts called for the real Yuletide spirit when they declared:

"Let's not just WISH this to be a Merry Christmas, let's all work to MAKE this a Merry Christmas for all."

Power Plant Blast Leaves 9 Men Killed

TOPEKA, Kan., Dec. 10 — An explosion and fire which wrecked the Kansas Light and Power plant claimed its ninth life today. Seventeen persons were hospitalized and all electricity in Topeka cut off.

The plant, five miles east of Topeka in Tecumseh, was shattered by a series of explosions preceding the fire.

The bodies of eight persons were recovered from the plant yesterday. A ninth victim died today.

The first explosion shut off power to the Kansas capital of 90,000 and halted electrically-operated clocks at 4:20 p. m. (EST).

Officials said boilers in the big steam installations were believed to have blown up. Police Captain E. R. Purdie said he believed the explosion caused the fire to spread through the building. He added that it was nearly an hour before firemen could get into the blazing plant.

County Gets First Snow Blanket; More To Come

A light blanket of snow covered Pickaway County and most of the rest of Ohio Friday, appropriately ushering in what Mr. Weatherman calls the "first day of climatological winter."

Charles Carter, local weather observer, reported that one-half inch of snow fell Thursday night. Although the snowfall was comparatively light, it was the first measurable amount noted here.

Pickaway County engineers Friday morning were spreading salt and calcium chloride on rural roads and bridges after freezing temperatures and a light snow made the highways hazardous for traffic.

Engineer Henry T. McCrady said the roads were fair about noon, but warned that streets in the county villages were worse than in open areas.

Cornis Pierce, 27, of East Sparta, became Ohio's first victim of the icy streets when his tractor-trailer truck skidded at the intersections of Routes 173 and 62 near Harrisburg in Stark County.

PIERCE WAS pinned behind the wheel when the truck jacked and turned on its side.

The Ohio Department of Highways reported roads slippery but

County Gets First Snow Blanket; More To Come

passable in north central and southeast sections of Ohio and in counties along the Michigan border.

The Cleveland area's first taste of winter resulted in icy streets which tangled traffic and caused numerous auto accidents. Salt crews were sent out to eliminate the more hazardous intersections.

A drop of 10 degrees above zero is predicted for Friday night in Cleveland and Cincinnati is girding for a drop 12 above, with similar frigid readings expected elsewhere in the state.

Forecasters said the temperature drop will come Friday night if 18-20-mile-an-hour winds coming in from the north subside.

More snow flurries are predicted for the northeast portion of the state with continued cold forecast for Saturday, along with snow that afternoon or night.

The U. S. Weather Bureau's five-day outlook follows:

"Temperatures will average about two degrees below normal for the period. Rather cold Saturday and Sunday. Warmer Monday. Colder Tuesday. Some snow late Saturday or Sunday. Rain or snow about Tuesday."

New GE Employees Going To School Before Work

It became very obvious here this week that a person accepted for employment at Circleville's new $2.5 million General Electric Co. plant is required to do more than walk into the plant, and say: "OK, bud, where's the timeclock."

The new GE employee actually goes to school before he goes to work.

Before he starts work, he listens to a series of lectures, studies educational motion pictures, reads a pamphlet or two and knows a little bit about illumination engineering.

The 50-odd employees, who this week started the first assembly line at the new plant in the southeastern part of this city, have gone through that "school" and the photographs surrounding this news story gives an insight into their new education.

Actually, a comprehensive employee-training program has been instituted at the new plant under the guiding hand of Ed Grigg, GE's plant manager here.

Grigg explains that the "school" does two things:

First, it explains in detail all the benefits due the employee.

Second, it takes the employee by the hand, tells him the complete story of light—from early days when man had only the sun for light, to the candle and Slimline fluorescent lamp.

The employee may not know exactly or understand fully all the chemistry and physics behind the Slimline, but he has enough idea to go ahead to his assigned job with enthusiasm and do his bit in the assembly-line production of the Slimline tube.

The 50-odd Circleville area persons who started the production ball rolling here this week are attending classes dealing with four major subjects: (1)

Marines Ready Off China Coast

SHANGHAI, Dec. 10 — Admiral Oscar H. Badger, commander of the West Pacific Fleet, announced today he would order Marines to land in Shanghai if that becomes necessary for protection of American lives and property.

The admiral said the Leathernecks, currently held in readiness aboard U. S. warships in Shanghai harbor, would be put ashore if local Chinese authority breaks down because of the civil war.

Personally, Badger said, he'd like to order the Marines to land "tomorrow" but said he feared this would only create alarm.

'Wash Your Own Linen'—Dunifon

State Liquor Director Dale Dunifon Friday tossed Circleville's alleged liquor bribery and enforcement problems back into the hands of Pickaway County authorities.

Dunifon suggested that attorneys for Circleville Police Chief William McCrady turn over to a local grand jury any evidence they have "on the man who asked four clubs for $1,800 to guarantee freedom from slot machine raids."

He specifically discouraged Joseph Adkins and Emmitt Crist, local attorneys, from any Columbus trip to confer with him.

The lawyers representing the chief had said they knew the man who asked $500 from three of the clubs and $300 from the fourth for "protection" up to Jan. 1 when a new administration takes over. Dunifon suggested:

"Why don't they clean their own dirty linen. That's what they've got a prosecutor for. Any common pleas judge could call a grand jury investigation yet today."

AN OFFER made by Attorneys Adkins and Crist to turn all available information pertaining to the case over to Dunifon, was flatly refused by the official who said:

"If they (the attorneys) have proper evidence and witnesses to warrant an investigation, they should present their case to the incoming prosecuting attorney and a new grand jury."

"This entire matter should be handled locally since it is the duty of the prosecutor to handle the case which allegedly happened in his county."

Dunifon admitted he was carrying on an investigation of his own into the reported attempt to bribe $1,800 from four Circleville clubs. However, he pointed out:

"We are not interested in a white wash job in this department or Circleville's police department."

These statements were made to a Circleville Herald reporter by telephone Friday morning.

The liquor department director said he believed he had all the information in the case and that he did not believe Adkins and Crist were involved.

REDS POUR OVER BIG WALL

Decisive Battles Shaping 'For 4 Major China Cities

NANKING, Dec. 10—Fresh Communist armies were poised today for a momentarily expected smash at Tientsin and Peiping. Meanwhile other Red forces stepped up a drive toward the Yangtze between Nanking and Shanghai.

Decisive battles for the four biggest cities of North and Central China were shaping up. The pro-Communist New China

News Agency in Hongkong claimed that 30,000 government troops were killed and wounded and 10,000 captured in the region where the provinces of Honan, Anhwei and Kiangsu converge. The agency said that 200,000 government soldiers were encircled in the area.

In the north, four powerful spearhead columns of eight Communist armies, comprising perhaps 250,000 seasoned troops, were reported massed near Tangshan, 80 miles northeast of Tientsin.

THESE TROOPS had been poured down across the eastern gates of the great wall from Manchuria in an advance directly toward the vital port of Tientsin.

They moved southwest into Eastern Hopei province of North China proper along the coastal railroad to Tientsin, led by Gen. Lin Piao, Communist commander-in-chief in Manchuria.

A military spokesman in Nanking admitted that Lin Piao now has "invaded" China with eight armies already moved below the great wall.

Seventy-five miles inland, North China's foremost metropolis of Peiping was simultaneously subjected to the mounting threat posed by other Communist armies lashing at the city's northeast, northwest and southwest approaches. One Red vanguard force was reported less than 25 miles northeast of Peiping.

Tientsin is Peiping's sea outlet. The port lies 75 miles south-east of Peiping.

"Surely enough blood has been shed."

He termed the Berlin municipal elections last Sunday "proof of the resurrection of the German spirit, and a beacon casting light on the minds of a mighty race without whose effective aid Europe's glory could not be revived."

The future of human freedom, Churchill said, may well rest on Anglo-American cooperation. Referring to the projected North Atlantic Security Pact he said:

kings and Crist could add anything to what he already has.

"It would only complicate the case by passing the information through two or three hands," Dunifon said.

Meanwhile, a rift was apparent in the state liquor department. Donald T. Geyer, liquor department enforcement chief, told International News Service and the Herald: "It's none of your business," when asked why he had not told Dunifon about the case.

ADKINS and Crist jointly released the telephone number which the Circleville official had been told by the "contact" to call in Columbus. They said it was Main 3281, and the extension was either 60 or 80.

Main 3281 is the state liquor department and extension 60 formerly was that of the agent in charge of enforcement in the Columbus district, which includes Circleville, INS reported.

When asked if the conversation between the club official and the "chief" in Columbus had been recorded, the two attorneys replied: "No comment."

The liquor director expressed surprise that McCrady should speak before city council last Tuesday only through attorneys and asked:

"What crime is he charged with?"

He later said:

"Of course Adkins and Crist are perfectly welcome to come to Columbus any time they want to, but the whole matter is one for local authorities. My opinion shouldn't mean a thing."

"If a grand jury is called, we'll be glad to turn over our complete files. We'll also give it information on law enforcement in Circleville as we know it."

Geyer leveled a withering blast of charges today against Mayor Thurman I. Miller and the two attorneys.

He suggested that a grand jury investigation be called to handle liquor department charges that McCrady had refused to accompany liquor agents on a raid, along with counter charges that some liquor men had tried to "shake down" four clubs for $1,800.

Geyer said he knew no reasons why Adkins and Crist would not hand over any evidence they might have to him.

The attorneys earlier had said they had "information for Mr. Dunifon alone. We will not do business with Geyer."

Investigations promised both by the state liquor department and Circleville officials into the alleged attempt to "shake down" four clubs here became a foggy issue Friday.

BOTH SIDES accused each other of "throwing up a smoke screen" in an attempt to hide the real goings-on inside the liquor department and behind the scenes in Circleville.

The enforcement chief termed such statements "far-fetched, silly, ridiculous, unfair and irresponsible," and added:

"They're throwing up a smoke screen, trying to keep their own skirts clean."

Adkins and Crist had said they knew the name of the contact man who promised freedom from slot machine raids in exchange for $500 from three clubs and $300 from a fourth. They also threatened to take the investigation to the governor's office.

Geyer said:

"If they know the man, why isn't he arrested? That is a matter for local authorities. They've practically indicted their own man."

"I hope they do push this into the governor's office. He'll be forced to remove that mayor. It's plain he's not doing his duty."

GEYER SAID he was certain, personally, of the identity of the man who contacted the four clubs but that he had no definite proof.

H said that because the man was not connected with the liquor department, he, Geyer, had no jurisdiction over the man, but could only turn over his evidence to local authorities. He added:

"I'm perfectly willing to cooperate in any way with any grand jury investigation."

The two attorneys had been retained by McCrady, who was accused by liquor department agents with refusing to accompany them on a raid on the Circleville Moose Club.

They claimed that the club already had sent its permit back to Columbus, and exhibited a letter they said was a receipt for the license, dated Nov. 9 and apparently signed by Robert Woods, chief of the permit section.

Woods, however, denied until Friday that the permit had been received and insisted it was not in his files.

bottom of the disputed letter was "mgt-mjw."

Woods Friday morning said he found the letter asking that the Moose club permit be placed in escrow last night at the end of "a two-day search."

However, he said the permit had not been placed in escrow because no reasons for the request were given in the letter signed by Club Executive Secretary Maxwell Myers, Nov. 7.

Yers' letter said only:

"DuMe to some difficulties that have come up, we have decided to discontinue the sale of liquor. Please find our license enclosed for you to hold for us."

WOODS' FILES contain an answering letter dated Nov. 9 which said "please forward your liquor purchase card and a letter setting forth reasons for wishing the permit placed in escrow."

He said he had received no answer from the Moose Club.

The permit chief said there actually was no provision in the law for placing a permit in escrow but that such action sometimes was taken in cases where continuance of the permit would work a hardship on the holder.

He said permit holders were required by custom to state reasons for wishing a permit deactivated because, under the quota system, such action might deprive another person of securing a permit.

Adkins and Crist said they "understood" payoffs for protection already had been made in Bellefontaine, Lancaster and Delaware county.

As to the contact man, they said he was "well known" in Circleville and added:

"Some of the boys here even call him by his first name."

company personnel policies, (2) safety program, (3) quality requirements, and (4) technical aspects of production.

The training program is an outgrowth of GE's policy that "an informed employee is a happy employee."

Company personnel policies including employee benefits such as the savings and stock bonus, insurance, hospitalization and stock bonus, insurance, hospitalization and pension plans, are being explained to the employees by Harry Diehl, office manager.

Clay Vaughan, master mechanic and chairman of the safety committee, explains to the new employees how safety is a primary consideration, using a primary booklet on safety, published by the General Electric Co.

The importance of quality in lamp production is emphasized by A. R. (Dick) Boerner, chief engineer.

He also explains the exacting inspection routine applied to the Slimline lamps, the role of the local employee who is being trained as an independent inspector.

The latter, who actually is not an employee of GE, but of an outside, independent testing organization, picks at random more than four percent of all lamps produced, and gives each lamp a series of exhaustive checks.

The system of checks and inspections is designed to eliminate production defects, and guarantee a fine-quality lamp to the ultimate consumer.

Instructor in the technical aspects of production is being given the new employees under the direction of E. G. Shutt, general foreman, and other plant foremen. This phase of the training program incorporates instruction in actual machine operation and in preparation of lamp sub-assemblies.

6 Ashville High School Pupils Listed On 'Straight A' Roster

Six Ashville high school students registered perfect grades for the second six weeks of classes when report cards disclosed straight A marks.

For the same period, 19 Ashville high school students were second high when they received no grade below a B. Following is a list of the A and B students.

All A's were received by Shirley Axe, sophomore; Marilyn Bowers, junior; Joanne Hinkle, junior; Charles Eversole, junior; Marilyn Hollis, senior; and June Litten, senior.

kins and Crist could add anything to what he already has.

"It would only complicate the case by passing the information through two or three hands," Dunifon said.

Meanwhile, a rift was apparent in the state liquor department. Donald T. Geyer, liquor department enforcement chief, told International News Service and the Herald: "It's none of your business," when asked why he had not told Dunifon about the case.

ADKINS and Crist jointly released the telephone number which the Circleville official had been told by the "contact" to call in Columbus. They said it was Main 3281, and the extension was either 60 or 80.

Main 3281 is the state liquor department and extension 60 formerly was that of the agent in charge of enforcement in the Columbus district, which includes Circleville, INS reported.

When asked if the conversation between the club official and the "chief" in Columbus had been recorded, the two attorneys replied: "No comment."

The liquor director expressed surprise that McCrady should speak before city council last Tuesday only through attorneys and asked:

"What crime is he charged with?"

He later said:

"Of course Adkins and Crist are perfectly welcome to come to Columbus any time they want to, but the whole matter is one for local authorities. My opinion shouldn't mean a thing."

"If a grand jury is called, we'll be glad to turn over our complete files. We'll also give information on law enforcement in Circleville as we know it."

Geyer leveled a withering blast of charges today against Mayor Thurman I. Miller and the two attorneys.

He suggested that a grand jury investigation be called to handle liquor department charges that McCrady had refused to accompany liquor agents on a raid, along with counter charges that some liquor men had tried to "shake down" four clubs for $1,600.

Geyer said he knew no reasons why Adkins and Crist would not hand over any evidence they might have to him.

The attorneys earlier had said they had "information for Mr. Dunifon alone. We will not do business with Geyer."

Investigations promised both by the state liquor department and Circleville officials into the alleged attempt to "shakedown" four clubs here became a foggy issue Friday.

BOTH SIDES accused each other of "throwing up a smoke screen" in an attempt to hide the real goings-on inside the liquor department and behind the scenes in Circleville.

The enforcement chief termed such statements "far-fetched, silly, ridiculous, unfair and irresponsible," and added:

"They're throwing up a smoke screen, trying to keep their own skirts clean."

Adkins and Crist had said they knew the name of the contact man who promised freedom from slot machine raids in exchange for $500 from three clubs and $300 from a fourth. They also threatened to take the investigation to the governor's office.

Geyer said:

"If they know the man, why isn't he arrested? That is a matter for local authorities. They've practically indicted their own man."

"I hope they do push this into the governor's office. He'll be forced to remove that mayor. It's plain he's not doing his duty."

GEYER SAID he was certain, personally, of the identity of the man who contacted the four clubs but that he had no definite proof.

He said that because the man was not connected with the liquor department, he, Geyer, had no jurisdiction over the man, but could only turn over his evidence to local authorities. He added:

"I'm perfectly willing to cooperate in any way with any grand jury investigation."

Two attorneys had been retained by McCrady, who was accused by liquor department agents with refusing to accompany them on a raid on the Circleville Moose Club.

They claimed that the club already had sent its permit back to Columbus, and exhibited a letter they said was a receipt for the license, dated Nov. 9 and apparently signed by Robert Woods, chief of the permit section.

Woods, however, denied until Friday that the permit had been received and insisted it was not in his files.

Booster Club Signs To Back Circus Opening

Circleville Booster Club will sponsor the season opening day of Mills Brothers Circus here April 16.

Club directors Thursday night signed a contract with Jack Mills, circus president, and immediately made plans for the first day of the show which is wintering at Pickaway Fairgrounds.

John Heiskell, president of the club, said all profits the Boosters make will go to Circleville high school's crack marching band.

Signing of the contract with Mills came after two other local organizations were by-passed. The Chamber of Commerce, which sponsored the opening day last Spring, was not interested. The local Kiwanis Club, given first refusal, gave tentative OK to the deal, later reneged.

The Booster Club, a leading promoter of activities producing funds for both the local high school band and the athletic department, probably will start its ticket sale long before the Spring thaw.

HEISKELL said various committees would be named within the near future.

Show dates for the Mills Brothers Circus already have been set. They start in Circleville, jump to Columbus and then continue on through the midwest, southwest, east and southeast.

Sponsored by benevolent organizations on all its stops, the circus offers a 50-50 split to any organization which will back its appearance.

Pickway Plant Turbines Die

A fire at Pickway power plant, which supplies electricity to most of Columbus and Pickaway County put two of three turbine generators out of operation Friday.

Power cutoffs affected the north, west and east side of Columbus but little interruption was noticed in Circleville.

A small fire in the wires of the control room threw out pumps and conveyors which carry water and coal to the boilers. The blaze was quickly extinguished by plant employees.

However, the single remaining turbine was left operating at a low level. The plant's total output of 90,000 kilowatts was cut to 10,000.

The load was transferred to another power plant in Groveport.

Salesman Out Of Local Jail

Charles A. Morehouse, 54, Columbus routeman for a wholesale tobacco firm, was released Thursday from the Pickaway County jail where he was held for questioning in connection with a reported robbery.

He claimed he was slugged and robbed of $576.65 of company money while he made repairs on the carburetor of his truck last week. Morehouse was given two lie detector tests Tuesday in Columbus.

A-Bomb Secrecy Lashed

Solon Would Bare
Facts To Public

WASHINGTON, Dec. 10 — A high-ranking Senate Democrat plans to demand in the new Congress that the government tear the veil of secrecy from its atomic bomb stockpile and the rate of A-Bomb production.

The senator, a key administration supporter, indicated that he also will call for a foreign policy based frankly on the assumption that eventual war with Russia is inevitable.

He also expects to ask for a general overhauling of the defense program. He declared that "we are getting 95 percent prepared for war, and 90 percent of it will be useless."

The senator wants to disclose the extent of the nation's A-bomb stockpile "just as we tell how many airplane carriers we've got."

He asserted that the present policy only conceals U. S. strength from the American people and their friends abroad. He declared also that the present procedure, in which even congressional committees are not told what they are getting for the money they appropriate, is "a police-state procedure."

THE SENATOR declared that "people in Congress are resigned to the fact" that a conflict at some future time is inevitable.

In disclosing his view privately, he said he believes the United States should:

1. Build defenses aimed directly at combatting such Russian-owned weapons as the snorkel submarine.
2. Conduct an intensive campaign to "educate world opinion" and to split Russia's satellites away from her.

America has become the greatest food producing nation in the world because the free constant markets provided by the commodity exchanges have enabled the farmer to produce to the maximum.

Russ Dislike Finn Plays

MOSCOW, Dec. 10 — Radio Moscow announced today that Russia has sent a stern note to Finland protesting "actions of a hostile character against the Soviet Union."

It objected to actions by "irresponsible elements aimed at worsening relations between Finland and the USSR."

Specifically, the note protested "anti-Soviet plays" staged in the Finnish National theatre.

Grain of all kinds constitutes the major food crop in the United States.

'40 Census Used As Permit Basis

COLUMBUS, Dec. 10—State Liquor Director Dale Dunifon said today that 1940 census figures will continue to be used as a basis for issuing permits.

Dunifon said the '40 census would be used as a legal basis unless the figures are "challenged by an applicant who submits proof to the contrary by relevant and competent evidence."

Franklin County Common Pleas Judge Joseph M. Clifford recently ruled that "no existing census can be held conclusive when the fact is challenged" in permit quota cases.

Oil Official Due To Hang

BUDAPEST, Dec. 10—A Budapest peoples' court decreed a death sentence today for Prof. Simon Papp, general manager of the Hungarian-American Oil Corp., a subsidiary of Standard Oil of New Jersey.

Two other defendants received prison terms and a fourth was acquitted.

The four men—all Hungarian citizens—had been charged by the Communist government with sabotaging oil production at the behest of American officials of the company.

Austrian Stand Said Remarkable

Nation In Middle Of Soviet Bloc

PARIS, Dec. 10—The modern-day miracle of a nation remaining free and independent although surrounded by Soviet satellite nations and partially occupied by Russian troops was brought to world attention by Austria's request for resumed negotiations for a definite peace treaty.

Encouraged by prompt approval of this request by the United States government, Austria is confident that Great Britain and France will agree.

And she is hopeful that Russia will modify her attitude. That was the stumbling-block before. Negotiations in London broke down when the Soviet Union backed Yugoslav Marshal Tito's demand for a large slice of territory in Central and Southern Carinthia.

The hopes regarding Soviet collaboration are based largely upon Tito's break with the Soviet cominform, as a result of which the Russians may not be so anxious to see the Yugoslav leader gain territory and population at the expense of Austria, which has been absolved of outright guilt for participation in the war.

IT HAS BEEN accepted internationally that Austria fought the Allies not as a sovereign nation but as a vassal which had been incorporated unwillingly into Adolf Hitler's German Reich.

Western observers have been amazed and gratified by events in Austria where a maximum of public order has been observed since the close of the war and where the population has remained immune to Communist propaganda.

In the last election, less than five percent voted Communist. The Democratic feeling is so strong that the last Communist sympathizer has been compelled to leave the government and its leaders are supremely confident that any attempted Communist overthrow of the regime would be foredoomed to failure.

The case of Austria in postwar history is truly a phenomenon. The capital city of Vienna lies farther east than Prague. Gen. Mark Clark, who served as American commander and military governor in Vienna until a few months ago, always characterized the country as the easternmost bulwark of Democracy.

But while Clark and other occupational officials always were alive to the possibility of a sudden Communist coup or gradual infiltration, these fears have receded with the passing months.

The trouble-spot always has been Carinthia and Austria is certain that if properly heard she can dispose of Tito's claims.

This territory was in dispute after the first world war.

Newly-created Yugoslavia wanted much of the province and its ancient capital city of Klagenfurt despite the fact the population consists predominantly of German-speaking Austrians who had been citizens of the Austro-Hungarian empire for centuries.

Each fighting man in the Navy consumes over a ton of food yearly; each ton requires 60 cubic feet of shipping space, about ten times the storage space of a standard home refrigerator.

La Paz, whose name means "The Peace", is the world's highest capital. The Bolivian city is 12,000 feet above sea level.

4 Are Arrested In Dope Case

CLEVELAND, Dec. 10—Cleveland police held four men today in connection with violation of the federal narcotics law.

Detectives raided a south side pool room, arrested the four men and seized a quantity of narcotics yesterday.

One of the men had two syringes and some narcotics hidden in the folds of a newspaper. When he tried to turn a page of the paper, the hidden objects fell to the floor.

Teen Tips

Although Summer vacations are just a memory, the need for folding money goes right on... for new clothes, dates and school games to say nothing of the weekly movie and soda.

High school boys and college students have discovered many new ways to earn money to pay for weekly fun or for a big school dance and some, with regular Saturday jobs, are wisely saving some of their self-earned greenbacks for college expenses. You'll "learn while you earn" and have more business if you think more about doing a good, thorough job than of how high a rate you can charge. Here are some of their money-making ideas:

Many boys find weekend jobs at the corner gas station where there's seldom a dull moment and you can't help making new friends and acquaintances, both masculine and feminine. Some boys, choose the work just for extra cash, others because they have mechanical engineering ambitions and this is a step in the right direction.

Housecleaning jobs are another possibility for Saturdays. Householders are glad to have a careful crew of high schoolers take over the vacuuming, floor-waxing and blind-cleaning jobs of large houses.

Painting jobs are another idea if you're handy with the stuff.

Washing cars and windows can be fitted conveniently into your free time without interfering with studies. One boy makes the rounds in his neighborhood to put out and take in ash cans once a week.

Another boy has already made arrangements to rake leaves around all the houses where he cuts the grass this summer. He piles them up neatly and burns them.

Tutoring is popular with boys who have top grades in math and science.

Their Future is in the Balance

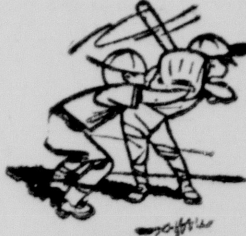

Meat animals are what they eat! It takes a balanced ration to keep them healthy, growing and gaining. Successful livestock men know this. Hundreds of controlled feeding experiments prove it. Morrison, the great feeding authority, states—"Lambs on unbalanced rations require 46% more corn and 15% more hay for each 100 pounds of gain!"

Balanced rations for hogs show spectacular results. Anyone can make a lot of fat and a little lean with corn and water. But that's the slow, expensive way. It takes a pile of corn to do it. But with corn balanced with proteins and minerals and vitamins hogs can be fed to market weights in six months or less. Think of the corn you can save—11 bushels of corn alone will make 100 pounds of pork, but only 6 1/2 bushels of corn plus 35 pounds of protein supplement will do the same job faster.

Scores of feeding trials prove that a balanced ration pays with steers and lambs, whether on the range or in the feedlot. In fact, the same basic principle applies to all livestock and poultry. Forage and other homegrown feeds, properly balanced with proteins and minerals, make more and better meat pounds at less cost.

Continuous research affords new and exciting means of using available materials in improved rations for livestock. At first, tankage alone was used to add protein to hog rations. It did a good job. Then research proved that a combination of proteins

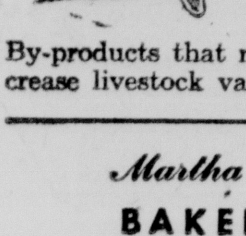

How good are you kids at knowing the names of the animals used to help you play games?

In baseball, what part of a steer do you wear? Why, the glove has a padding that's made from its hair!

In what game would you say the pig best fits in? Yes, football, that's right—the ball's called a "pigskin"!

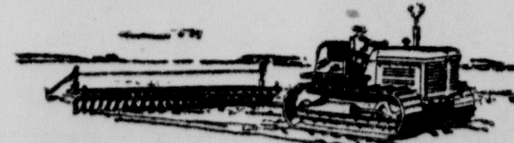

And the last time you walked a tennis ball—wham! Did you know that the racket strings came from a—lamb?

By-products that meat packers save every day increase livestock values, make stockmen more pay.

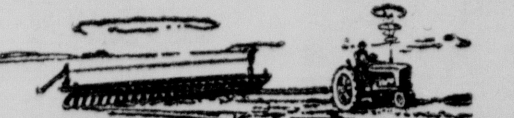

Martha Logan's Recipe for BAKED HAM SLICE

Cover a 2-inch-thick slice of ham with honey or orange marmalade. Add 1 cup water or fruit juice. Bake in a covered pan in a slow oven (325° F.) about 25 to 30 minutes per pound (about 2 hours).

"It takes a big tractor to pull a heavy-duty plow"

This large tractor is especially designed to handle the big and heavy jobs—easily, efficiently, economically.

This little tractor is good when used for its proper purposes. But it is not built to pull such a heavy plow.

It's the same way with business, including the meat-packing business. There's need for all kinds and sizes of packing plants—large ones as well as small ones. Two-thirds of the livestock is produced west of the Mississippi River. Two-thirds of the meat is eaten east of it. Bringing meat and meat-eaters together is a big job!

That's where the "big tractor" proves its worth. The country needs nation-wide meat packers like Swift & Company. For with processing plants located where most of the livestock is raised, we can help bridge the gap between western range and feedlots and the kitchen range. It is an important job, filling the vital needs of producers and consumers. As we have served them over the years, we have grown. And as we have grown, so also our ability to serve has grown.

This improvement in rations makes for more efficient and economical use of proteins. But what about vitamins and minerals? Here, too, many advancements in techniques of supplying these nutrients have been made. Dehydrated alfalfa, milk solids, vitamin oils, and some synthetic sources provide essential vitamins and other factors. Mineral balance is necessary, too. Salt, the universal need, supplies sodium and chlorine. Steamed bone meal supplies calcium and phosphorus, and other major minerals. First Calves Forecast Production

by Marvin Koger,
Animal Husbandman
New Mexico A. & M. Experiment Station

Want to estimate efficiency of calf production in your cow herd? The cow's first calf tells more than her good looks. In a New Mexico study, we took the weaning weights of first calves weaned by three-year-old cows. These weights were compared with the weaning weights of calves raised by these same cows in the next four years. Cows and calves were placed in five groups (according to the weaning weight of first calves). Here's the 5-year record:

Groups	Average First Calf Weight From 3-Year-Old Cows	Average Calf Weights From Same Cows for Next 4 Years
Group 1	321 pounds	404 pounds
Group 2	349 pounds	417 pounds
Group 3	383 pounds	430 pounds
Group 4	409 pounds	443 pounds
Group 5	441 pounds	456 pounds

Considering only the two extremes, Group One and Group Five, it was shown that breeding stock picked from Group One could be expected to produce, for the next four years, calves that had a yearly average weaning weight of only 404 pounds. But those picked from Group Five should produce calves with a yearly average weaning weight of 456 pounds, 52 pounds more than Group One.

These figures show that later calves are apt to be a repeat performance of the cow's first calf. Cows doing poorly their first calving year continued to produce the lightest group of calves. They were poor risks. Culling cows with light, scrubby first calves would be well repaid in greater profit through more efficient production. If you would like a full report on this experiment, write to New Mexico A. & M. Experiment Station, State College, N. M.

Austrian Stand Said Remarkable

Nation In Middle Of Soviet Bloc

PARIS, Dec. 10—The modern-day miracle of a nation remaining free and independent although surrounded by Soviet satellite nations and partially occupied by Russian troops was brought to world attention by Austria's request for resumed negotiations for a definite peace treaty.

Encouraged by prompt approval of this request by the United States government, Austria is confident that Great Britain and France will agree.

And she is hopeful that Russia will modify her attitude. That was the stumbling-block before. Negotiations in London broke down when the Soviet Union backed Yugoslavian Marshal Tito's demand for a large slice of territory in Central and Southern Carinthia.

The hopes regarding Soviet collaboration are based largely upon Tito's break with the Soviet cominform, as a result of which the Russians may not be so anxious to see the Yugoslav leader gain territory and population at the expense of Austria, which has been absolved of outright guilt for participation in the war.

IT HAS BEEN accepted internationally that Austria fought the Allies not as a sovereign nation but as a vassal which had been incorporated unwillingly into Adolf Hitler's German reich.

Western observers have been amazed and gratified by events in Austria where a maximum of public order has been observed since the close of the war and where the population has remained immune to Communist propaganda.

In the last election, less than five percent voted Communist. The Democratic feeling is so strong that the last Communist sympathizer has been compelled to leave the government and its leaders are supremely confident that any attempted Communist overthrow of the regime would be foredoomed to failure.

The case of Austria in postwar history is truly a phenomenon. The capital city of Vienna lies farther east than Prague. Gen. Mark Clark, who served as American commander and military governor in Vienna until a few months ago, always characterized the country as the easternmost bulwark of Democracy.

But while Clark and other occupational officials always were alive to the possibility of a sudden Communist coup or gradual infiltration, these fears have receded with the passing months.

The trouble-spot always has been Carinthia and Austria is certain that if properly heard she can dispose of Tito's claims.

This territory was in dispute after the first world war. Newly-created Yugoslavia wanted much of the province and its ancient capital city of Klagenfurt despite the fact the population consists predominantly of German-speaking Austrians who had been citizens of the Austro-Hungarian empire for centuries.

Each fighting man in the Navy consumes over a ton of food yearly; each ton requires 60 cubic feet of shipping space, about ten times the storage space of a standard home refrigerator.

La Paz, whose name means "The Peace", is the world's highest capital. The Bolivian city is 12,000 feet above sea level.

Teen Tips

Although Summer vacations are just a memory, the need for folding money goes right on... for new clothes, dates and school games to say nothing of the weekly movie and soda.

High school boys and college students have discovered many new ways to earn money to pay for weekly fun or for a big school dance and some, with regular Saturday jobs, are wisely saving some of their self-earned greenbacks for college expenses. You'll "learn while you earn" and have more business if you think more about doing a good, thorough job than of how high a rate you can charge. Here are some of their money-making ideas:

Many boys find weekend jobs at the corner gas station where there's seldom a dull moment and you can't help making new friends and acquaintances, both masculine and feminine. Some boys, choose the work just for extra cash, others because they have mechanical engineering ambitions and this is a step in the right direction.

Housecleaning jobs are another possibility for Saturdays. Householders are glad to have a careful crew of high schoolers take over the vacuuming, floor-waxing and blind-cleaning jobs of large houses.

Painting jobs are another idea if you're handy with the stuff.

Washing cars and windows can be fitted conveniently into your free time without interfering with studies. One boy makes the rounds in his neighborhood to put out and take in ash cans once a week.

Another boy has already made arrangements to rake leaves around all the houses where he cuts the grass this summer. He piles them up neatly and burns them.

Tutoring is popular with boys who have top grades in math and science.

Their Future is in the Balance

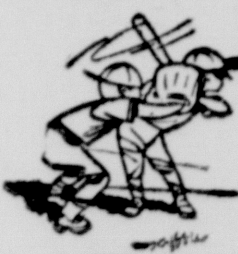

Meat animals are what they eat! It takes a balanced ration to keep them healthy, growing and gaining. Successful livestock men know this. Hundreds of controlled feeding experiments prove it. Morrison, the great feeding authority, states—"Lambs on unbalanced rations require 46% more corn and 15% more hay for each 100 pounds of gain!"

Balanced rations for hogs show spectacular results. Anyone can make a lot of fat and a little lean with corn and water. But that's the slow, expensive way. It takes a pile of corn to do it. But with corn balanced with proteins and minerals and vitamins hogs can be fed to market weights in six months or less. Think of the corn you can save—11 bushels of corn alone will make 100 pounds of pork, but only 6 1/2 bushels of corn plus 35 pounds of protein supplement will do the same job faster.

Scores of feeding trials prove that a balanced ration pays with steers and lambs, whether on the range or in the feedlot. In fact, the same basic principle applies to all livestock and poultry. Forage and other homegrown feeds, properly balanced with proteins and minerals, make more and better meat pounds at less cost.

Continuous research affords new and exciting means of using available materials in improved rations for livestock. At first, tangle alone was used to add protein to hog rations. It did a good job. Then research proved that a combination of proteins

How good are you kids at knowing the names of the animals used to help you play games?

In baseball, what part of a steer do you wear? Why, the glove has a padding that's made from its hair!

In what game would you say the pig best fits in? Yes, football, that's right—the ball's called a "pigskin"!

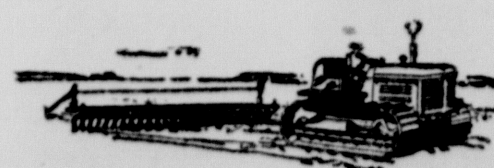

And the last time you walloped a tennis ball—wham! Did you know that the racket strings came from a—lamb?

By-products that meat packers save every day increase livestock values, make stockmen more pay.

Ohio's Health-Program Ranked 47th In U.S.

COLUMBUS, Dec. 10—Ohio was ranked right next to the bottom today in public health work.

U. S. Deputy Surgeon General W. Palmer Dearing said:

"The Ohio State Health Department presently is able to provide the elementary services expected of a central health organization because it is living off the expanded program of federal aid to the States."

Dr. Dearing told the semi-annual meeting of the Ohio Tuberculosis Association here yesterday:

"Ohio spends about 10 cents per capita for public health work. The national average of state expenditures for public health is about 50 cents per capita. On this basis, Ohio ranks forty-seventh among the 48 states in public health effort."

The federal health official said:

"The people of Ohio might well ask how much state health service, and what kind, could we have bought for nearly seven million persons without $300 thousand in state money."

He continued:

"If your health department had had to live this year on its state support, your state laboratory would have been virtually wiped out; there would have been no industrial hygiene; no aid in maternal and child health work, tuberculosis control and environmental sanitation; no dental health program for schools, and no rapid treatment for venereal disease."

It cost 251 million dollars for maintenance of the entire Navy in 1935; in 1945 the Navy's food bill alone was over 670 million.

Navy To Help Tars In College

WASHINGTON, Dec. 10—The Navy announced today that it will help defray the cost of off-duty courses for personnel at accredited colleges, universities and junior colleges.

The aid will begin with the next semester or quarter term, under a program designed to improve the individual's performance of duty or professional qualifications.

Naval district commanders have been authorized to expend special funds for payment of tuition for courses taken voluntarily by naval personnel. The maximum amount payable per semester or quarter is $25 per course, with two courses being allowed during a semester or quarter.

Ohio's Health Program Ranked 47th In U.S.

COLUMBUS, Dec. 10 — Ohio was ranked right next to the bottom today in public health work.

U. S. Deputy Surgeon General W. Palmer Dearing said: "The Ohio State Health Department presently is able to provide the elementary services expected of a central health organization because it is living off the expanded program of federal aid to the States."

Dr. Dearing told the semi-annual meeting of the Ohio Tuberculosis Association here yesterday:

"Ohio spends about 10 cents per capita for public health work. The national average of state expenditures for public health is about 50 cents per capita. On this basis, Ohio ranks forty-seventh among the 48 states in public health effort."

The federal health official said:

"The people of Ohio might well ask how much state health service, and what kind, could we have bought for nearly seven million persons without $300 thousand in state money."

He continued:

"If your health department had had to live this year on its state support, your state laboratory would have been virtually wiped out; there would have been no industrial hygiene; no aid in maternal and child health work, tuberculosis control and environmental sanitation; no dental health program for schools, and no rapid treatment for venereal disease."

Navy To Help Tars In College

WASHINGTON, Dec. 10 — The Navy announced today that it will help defray the cost of off-duty courses for personnel at accredited colleges, universities and junior colleges.

The aid will begin with the next semester or quarter term, under a program designed to improve the individual's performance of duty or professional qualifications.

Naval district commandants have been authorized to expend special funds for payment of tuition for courses taken voluntarily by naval personnel. The maximum amount payable per semester or quarter is $25 per course, with two courses being allowed during a semester or quarter.

UNDERSTANDING RUSSIA

TO THE many thoughtful voices which have been urging Americans to learn more about Russia is now added that of the Carnegie Corporation of New York, an educational organization whose work is worth attention. The annual report of the corporation contains these lines:

"Whether we are to live in peace with Russia—as we profoundly hope—or in strife, it is of the utmost importance that we achieve systematic and full understanding of the Russian culture and history, and of the habits, beliefs, motivations, fears and loyalties of the Russian people. Without such understanding our best efforts to defend our freedom will be futile."

Most Americans know precious little of Russian history, and our impressions of present-day Russia are too commonly based on superficial reports of the early years of the Soviet regime, the first five-year plans and the purges. There is too little general knowledge of Russia as it is today, and of its background.

Russian leaders do not correspondingly ignore us. Education there is severely handicapped by lack of books, materials, facilities and teachers. But those to whom up-to-date reading material is available have at their disposal excellent historical and descriptive works on America and the other Western nations. Moreover, it is reported by competent observers, the Soviet system makes certain that officials and other leaders make good use of these books.

The future of our relations with the Russians rests, we hope, in ability to deal with them. They have certain advantages of negotiation to begin with, in that their philosophy is more aggressive and they are not handicapped by "bourgeois ideas of morality." We should not give them further advantage by failing to know about them.

WORD TO BUSINESS MEN

THAT useful citizen Charles Edison, son of the inventor, former governor of New Jersey and former secretary of the Navy, said something worth remembering in his presidential address to the National Municipal League.

Many citizens, he said, clamor against the active intervention of government in business, but never dream of doing anything to make that government more according to their desires. Particularly they take no part in the politics of their own communities, which is where, after all, Washington politics is born.

In other words, he suggests that the troubles of business men with relations to the government come largely from their own lack of good citizenship.

George E. Sokolsky's These Days

Last September, Robert Thompson, New York state chairman of the Communist Party, was assaulted with the obvious intent of assassination. More recently, a private detective entered his home and apparently attempted to assault Thompson's seven-year-old daughter during the absence of her parents. The assailant of Thompson has not been caught; the assistant of the seven-year-old daughter is known.

Robert Thompson is an avowed Communist, an important member of the party. This ought in no manner to influence the attitude of the police, the district attorney or the courts. At stake is not the question of Communism but the majesty of the law in a free country. Private murders for political purposes cannot be tolerated in this country nor can assault or sex crimes be condoned because the victim is a member of an unpopular group.

Apparently the authorities of Queens County take this matter too lightly. They forget that the law must be upheld and the instigators of a crime caught no matter what the beliefs of the individual. The United States does not go in for purges nor for recognizing the right of anybody to take the law in his own hands. Just as I have steadily protested against the inability of the police to discover who killed Carlos Tresca, the anarchist; who killed Scottoriglio, the Republican, on Election Day; who commit murder after murder on the docks of this city; so must I protest at the silence which surrounds the assault on Thompson and his young daughter.

It is the business of the authorities to discover why these assaults were made and who is responsible for them. More, it is their obligation to prove that private individuals do not assume the responsibility of enforcing society's decisions. That easily can degenerate into anarchy.

When Theodore Roosevelt was Commissioner of Police in New York, a famous German anti-Semite came to this country to stir up trouble for the Jews. He particularly chose the East Side of New York, then a Jewish center, to bait its inhabitants. Teddy realized that a riot would be the answer. He assigned Jewish policemen to guard the anti-Semite with the result that he had his say and there was no riot. He established the fact that in a free country even the stupid enjoy freedom of expression and that the law would be upheld.

If Thompson has been guilty of a crime, he should be indicted by a grand jury (as he has been), prosecuted by the proper officials, and tried in a court of law according to proper procedures. There must be no short cuts about this, if we do not wish to imperil our entire system of law. If citizens believe him guilty of a crime against his country and the officials are negligent about it, those who are to be denounced are the officials. But when any citizens take the law into their own hands, they become criminals and should be treated as such.

The authorities take the stand that the assault upon Thompson's seven-year-old daughter was merely a sex crime. Maybe so. It is, however, an interesting coincidence that it occurred so close to the failure of the attempt on his life. The circumstances surrounding both assaults would surely give rise to the suspicion that they might be associated and that some individual or group is out to get Thompson because of the general resentment among Americans against Communists.

CHAPTER TWENTY-THREE
MARK, feeling unaccountably young and inexperienced, led the way into the dining room and, managing to concentrate on his duties as host, told the new water there would be three instead of two.

"If you're disappointed at not having Sammy alone," Red said magnanimously, "you can invite her again next Wednesday."

"You said you wanted to meet him," Sammy said again. "And since he had the time off—" "I couldn't have time off," Red corrected her sternly. "I took it from Sammy's report, and Sammy is a good reporter, I figured you were worth meeting, so I played hooky."

"I can't tell you how glad I am," Mark said sincerely. "I've thought more about you two these last four days than I have about my business. Almost more than about Donna. I have already ordered. I did it to save time. I hope it will be all right. I don't know about a cocktail," he glanced inquiringly at Red.

"Not for me this noon, if you don't mind. I have to make a speech at three."

"I have to make back to work," said Sammy. "I owe my job a clean bill."

"Same here," Mark agreed. "I can't tell you how glad I am to see you two. I've thought more about you two these last four days than I have about my business. Almost more than about Donna. I have already ordered. I did it to save time. I hope it will be all right. I don't know about a cocktail," he glanced inquiringly at Red.

Kiernan's ONE MAN'S OPINION

We can all profit from Errol Flynn's arrest for kicking a policeman in the shins. If we want to avoid brushes with the law let us stick to something safe like spying.

Although there is some indication that if spying continues to get undesirable publicity someone will have to be fined $5 and costs as an example to others.

It was particularly indicative of this spy situation to reopen just as we were trying to concentrate on remembering Pearl Harbor. We can handle only one infamy at a time.

Flynn's mistake was that he had no pumpkins on him when he was arrested. Not even a couple of feet of microfilm.

Under the circumstances he would find it impossible to get a committee organized to march on Washington screaming "down with red herring investigations."

Try, Stop Me

From Scotland comes the sad tale of one MacLaurin, Professor of Mathematics in the College of Edinburgh. It appears that the good professor could not yawn without dislocating his jaw. To make matters worse, his instinct of imitation was so strong that he could not resist yawning when he witnessed the act in others.

His unprincipled pupils, of course, were not slow in discovering and exploiting his weakness. When they tired of his lectures, they would simulate yawns, the professor would follow suit, and then stand helpless with his mouth wide open until his assistant could arrive and shut it. The pupils, meanwhile, were far, far away.

Professor MacLaurin has now been retired on a pension.

Rex Harrison

NEW YORK—It seems only yesterday, to coin a phrase, that I tried desperately and with all the reportorial cunning acquired in years of stealing pictures and flattering politicians, to coax Rex Harrison into a candid description of his personal reaction to Hollywood.

Actually, it is more like three years and the sad truth is that after a two-hour luncheon in the Stork club, during which I even made rash and probably drunken promises that his remarks would be off the record, I ended up with one photograph of one brilliant but cagey British actor, inscribed "Mel—don't quote me, Rex."

At that time he was just back from having made his first American movie, a monstrosity called Anna and the King of Siam, in which he, England's suavest romantic lead, played a strange slant-eyed monarch who spoke in monosyllables—but his innate breeding evidently kept him from expressing the definite disappointment he must have felt about our west coast dreamland.

Instead, he spoke enthusiastically of what he felt was his best effort, a British film called The Rake's Progress, released in this country as The Notorious Gentleman.

HAD MR. HARRISON BEEN A DULL THUD in American movies, his remarks would have smacked of the grapes that curdled, if used, if he permitted the twisting of metaphor's arm until it screams. Instead, he was a roaring success.

Critics, picking his performances carefully from the twaddle in which he played, loved him. Too late he came across one of dreamland's few craftsmen, Preston Sturges, who starred him in a tour de force called Unfaithfully Yours, before he packed his valise.

Now, the New York stage remains his final tie with the States, and if that lets him down, he undoubtedly will return to England. The same day that Mr. Harrison's sentiments were expressed, there came word from Paris that Michele Morgan, too, had renounced her vows to Hollywood. The outrages perpetrated on Miss Morgan, who is a superior actress, were even more bitter than those affecting Harrison.

As she put it, they plucked her eyebrows, straightened her nose with make-up, photographed her dimly and "tried to make me look like everybody else." Miss Morgan does not lie.

Andre Gide has said of her that she has a "natural and strange grace," and in the movies she made in France before coming here—masterpieces like Port of Shadows—this charm shone through.

Hollywood placed her tenderly into a musical with Frank Sinatra called Higher and Higher and succeeded expertly in making her look like everybody else. It was incredible to see her emerge as a bleached blonde making moon eyes at a wistful boy baritone.

JEAN GABIN WAS LUCKIER. He made one American movie called Montide, a pale carbon of several of his French waterfront films, and then promptly packed up and left.

In Britain, Anna Neagle has the same stature that Miss Morgan has in France as a dramatic performer—and yet dreamland put her in monumentally dull spectacles like Sunny and Irene... with, it must be admitted, the approval of her husband and director, the amiable Herbert Wilcox.

This did not start out as a blast at Hollywood, whose assembly line stoically has survived many such diatribes. What I wanted to say was that here in Manhattan there may be lures to keep Mr. Harrison in America.

Here it will be possible for him to read a book, listen to a concert, walk the dark and teeming streets of the lower East Side, wear a dinner jacket and try to maintain high standards in his chosen profession, without being eyed suspiciously.

This can be a menacing and barbaric Gomorrah to the sensitive man; it also can be heady and thrilling and flaming with life beyond the wildest dreams. Mr. Harrison is a badly burned patient who has been in the hands of quacks; we are the surgeons to whom he has given one final chance.

Letters Reveal Writers' Characters

PAUL'S EPISTLES SHOW FERVOR, MORAL EARNESTNESS

Scripture—Philippians; 1 Timothy; 1 John.

By NEWMAN CAMPBELL

IT IS probable that more letters are written in these modern times than ever before in history. Sons and daughters of every country are scattered all over the world.

Mothers and fathers write letters of affection and advice to their children. Sons and daughters situated in foreign lands send accounts of their experiences home to their parents.

Business men write to representatives all over the world, and statesmen exchange important communications and reports with one another.

Modern letters go by airplane, trains, boats, buses, etc. They may be written in code, typewritten or—but rarely—in long-hand. In Bible times they were written laboriously by hand and arrived by messengers who traveled many miles to get them to their destinations.

Paul was in prison, in A. D. 62, when he wrote his epistle to the Philippians. Philippi was in Greece, but it was a Roman colony. It was in this place that the Gospel was first brought to Europe. It was here that the woman, Lydia, maker of royal purple cloth, was converted by the riverside. It was here that Paul was thrown into prison and miraculously delivered by an earthquake.

Knowing Paul was a prisoner and in need, the friends in Philippi had sent him a gift, and Paul wrote to thank them and to express his affection. His letters are filled with moral earnestness and fervor along with the affection.

Probably feeling that his time on earth was short, he urged these fellow Christians to rejoice in the Lord, to have faith and to live good lives, as Jesus would have them. Repeatedly Paul tells them to rejoice, to forget dissensions—"be of one mind"—and "in everything by prayer and supplication with thanksgiving let your requests be made known to God."

Based on copyrighted outlines produced by The International Council of Religious Education and used by permission. Distributed by King Features Syndicate.

"And the peace of God, which passeth all understanding, shall keep your hearts and minds through Christ Jesus."

"Finally brethren, whatsoever things are true, whatsoever things are pure, whatsoever things are lovely, whatsoever things are of good report; if there be any virtue, and if there be any praise, think on these things."

In his prison Paul prayed continually for his fellow Christians, "I have you in my heart," he wrote—a beautiful phrase which we can all understand. How many loved ones do we too "hold in our hearts." Paul had no wife, no children, no brothers or sisters, so far as we know, but his family consisted of these men and women whom he had brought to Christ.

Timothy was found by Paul on his first missionary journey and accompanied him on others. Paul had a special affection for the young man and always spoke of him as his son in Christ. His epistles to Timothy were written just before his martyrdom, in A. D. 64-65. He wrote wistfully that he hoped "to come unto thee shortly." He never was able to fulfill that hope.

To his beloved young friend, Paul confided his ideas of Christian living. Obey the law, for "we know that the law is good if a man use it lawfully."

The bishops and deacons of the church should live upright lives, wisely training their children in the way of life—"for if a man know not how to rule his own house, how shall he take care of the church of God?"

"Charge them that are rich in this world, that they be not high-minded, nor trust in uncertain riches, but in the living God, Who giveth us richly all things to enjoy."

"That they do good, that they be rich in good works."

"The love of money is the root of all evil," Paul wrote Timothy in this letter.

SPEAKER at meeting for disabled Pickaway County veterans in Memorial Hall at 8:15 p. m. Friday will be Albert Croy (above), state DAV commander.

Bryant Named To Top Post

COLUMBUS, Dec. 10—Attorney General-Elect Herbert S. Duffy today named William C. Bryant, now first assistant Franklin County prosecutor, as his chief counsel when the new attorney takes office Jan. 10.

Bryant, former Columbus, Marion and Springfield newspaperman, will occupy the post now held by E. G. Schuessler under Attorney General Hugh S. Jenkins.

He received his law degree from Ohio State in 1931. In 1934 he was named an attorney, examiner in the state highway department and later served as secretary to the highway director. He resigned that position to enter the county prosecutor's office.

Ravenna Plans Newsboy Edition

RAVENNA, Dec. 10—Ravenna Mayor Tom Ritenour and other prominent citizens will sell a special "Old Newsboy Edition" of the city's newspaper Dec. 18 to raise funds to buy Christmas toys for needy children.

The program is sponsored by the Junior Chamber of Commerce, which also is collecting and repairing old toys to give unfortunate children.

Troops Added

SINGAPORE, Dec. 10—Officials announced today that the British garrison in Hong Kong will be reinforced by a Gurkha rifle battalion from Malaya "because of the deteriorating situation in China."

Letters Reveal Writers' Characters

PAUL'S EPISTLES SHOW FERVOR, MORAL EARNESTNESS

Scripture—Philippians; 1 Timothy; 1 John.

By NEWMAN CAMPBELL

IT IS probable that more letters are written in these modern times than ever before in history. Sons and daughters of every country are scattered all over the world.

Mothers and fathers write letters of affection and advice to their children. Sons and daughters situated in foreign lands send accounts of their experiences home to their parents.

Business men write to representatives all over the world, and statesmen exchange important communications and reports with one another.

Modern letters go by airplane, train, boat, bus, etc. They may be written in code, typewritten or—but rarely—in long-hand. In Bible times they were written laboriously by hand and arrived by messengers who traveled many miles to get them to their destinations.

Paul was in prison, in A. D. 62, when he wrote his epistle to the Philippians. Philippi was in Greece, but it was a Roman colony. It was in this place that the Gospel was first brought to Europe. It was here that the woman, Lydia, maker of royal purple cloth, was converted by the river. It was here that Paul was thrown into prison and miraculously delivered by an earthquake.

Knowing Paul was a prisoner and in need, the friends in Philippi had sent him a gift, and Paul wrote to thank them and to express his affection. His letters are filled with moral earnestness and fervor along with the affection.

Probably feeling that his time on earth was short, he urged these fellow Christians to rejoice in the Lord, to have faith and to live good lives, as Jesus would have them. Repeatedly Paul tells them to rejoice, to forget dissensions—"be of one mind"—and "in everything by prayer and supplication with thanksgiving let your requests be made known to God."

High-Power Lobbies To Get Probe

Pressure Groups Irking Congress

WASHINGTON, Dec. 10.—Special investigations of "high pressure" lobbying in both the House and Senate have been forecast for the new 81st Congress.

Rep. Sabath, (D) Ill., who will be chairman of the House Rules Committee, announced that he will introduce legislation authorizing a House lobbying inquiry in the next session.

A Senate Democratic official at the same time predicted similar action in the upper chamber after Congress organizes under Democratic control on Jan. 3.

President Truman, who called the GOP 80th Congress the "puppet of special lobbies," already has approved a proposed "thorough investigation" of lobbying in Capitol Hill.

Mrs. Truman endorsed a resolution of the International Association of Machinists, an independent union which warned that organized lobbies are preparing to attack the President's program in the coming Congress.

THE IDEA of a lobbying inquiry in the Senate is said to have been discussed by high-ranking Democrats and probably will be launched early in the session.

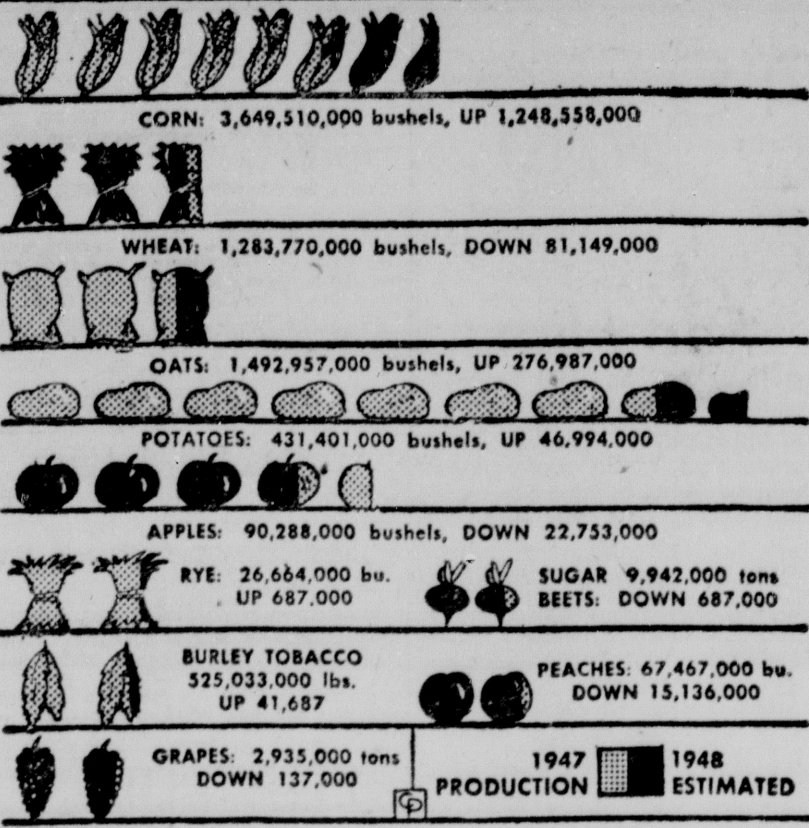

No decision has been reached yet on who will introduce the bill, although Sen. Lucas, (D) Ill., slated majority leader, is the most likely sponsor.

Distrust of "high-powered" lobbying is not all on the Democratic side. Sen. Aiken, (R) Vt., retiring chairman of the executive expenditures committee, said recently that he felt some organizations had "gone too far"—particularly in demanding restrictive labor legislation when the Taft-Hartley law was being framed.

Sen. McClelland, (D) Ark., who will head Aiken's committee under Democratic control next year, doubts if that group has the authority to investigate lobbying by private organizations, without special order of the Senate.

He suggests that while Congress is doing the job it "might want to investigate lobbying by government agencies themselves."

The reorganization act now requires resident Washington lobbyists to register with Congress.

ESTIMATED 1948 CROP production is at a new all-time high, 137 per cent of the 1923-32 base and 11 points above previous high of 1946, says a government crop report. Here are 10 crops, showing 1948 estimate (black) and 1947 production (shaded). (International)

Police Chief Eyes First Snow, Sees Cars Slip, Gives Warning

"Take your time in Winter-time. Please drive carefully." This plea for cautious driving came Friday from Police Chief William McCrady in wake of Pickaway County's first appreciable snowfall of the year. He said:

"My job is to prevent accidents as well as investigate them—and I'd rather do the preventing. I don't like accidents any more than the people who are involved in them, so I'm pleading to all drivers to be extra careful."

The Chief said numerous cars were reported skidding around due to the snow. "If a majority of these drivers had been going a little slower and had been properly equipped for snowy weather by using tire chains or maintaining clear windshields, many of these slips and slides could have been prevented," he added.

In offering a solution to reduce the driving hazards caused by the snow, McCrady listed vital precautions that should be adopted by drivers.

THEY ARE: reduce speed when the streets are slippery; use tire chains, keep windshield wipers and defrosters in working condition to provide the best visibility and see that headlights are functioning.

He further pointed out that inadequate traction is a major cause of accidents in this kind of weather.

"All of us as drivers should know what little traction we can get on snow or ice. The most reliable advice for preventing accidents when road surfaces are very slippery is to be extra careful, drive slowly, and apply brakes gently when coming to a stop," he declared.

Volume, Prices Both Slump In Livestock Sale

Both sales and prices slumped in the Wednesday Pickaway Livestock Cooperative Association stockyard auctions.

Volume suffered the sharpest decline in this week's market, tumbling from 1,872 head last Wednesday to 762 this week, a decrease of 1,110 head.

Prices in choicer grades of stock at the sales remained near normal in the market, although lesser grades toppled downward.

One exception was noted. In the sale of calves, prices in choice grades increased from $2 to $3 per hundredweight this week, while substantial increase was noted in the lesser grades also.

Largest volume decrease, in any one category of sales this week was seen in the sale of hogs, which dropped 725 head Wednesday when only 350 reached market compared to the 1,075 sold last week.

Sheep and lambs receipts decreased 283 head Wednesday when only 169 were auctioned as compared to the 452 sold last week.

Cattle receipts tumbled 80 head this week, a total of 188 sold this week as compared to the 268 marketed last Wednesday.

CALF RECEIPTS dropped only 22 head in this week's sales, 55

sold Wednesday and 77 the week before.

A complete report of the Wednesday transactions follows: CATTLE RECEIPTS—188 head—Steers and heifers, good No choice cattle on sale; steers and heifers, medium to good 23-27-40; steers and heifers, common to medium 14-23; cows, common to good 17-20-30; cows, canners to common 10-17; cow by head 170; bulls 22-75.

Talent Show Winners Named

Four winners have been named in the talent show which was sponsored recently by seniors of the Ashville school.

In the grade school contests, first prize was awarded to Carolyn Stout for her piano rendition of "Skater's Waltz." Second prize was won by Diane Nance, who sang "Rambling Rose" and "That's What I Want For Christmas."

Of those who participated from the high school, first place went to Faye Johnson for her song, "Love Is Where You Find It." Second award went to Mona Lee Maddox for her baton-twirling performance.

Aiken, (R) Vt., retiring chairman of the executive expenditures committee, said recently that he felt some organizations had "gone too far"—particularly in demanding restrictive labor legislation when the Taft-Hartley law was being framed.

Sen. McClelland, (D) Ark., who will head Aiken's committee next year, doubts if that group has the authority to investigate lobbying by private organizations, without special order of the Senate.

He suggests that while Congress is doing the job it "might want to investigate lobbying by government agencies themselves."

The reorganization act now requires resident Washington lobbyists to register with Congress.

Police Chief Eyes First Snow, Sees Cars Slip, Gives Warning

"Take your time in Winter-time. Please drive carefully," he added. In offering a solution to reduce the driving hazards caused by the snow, McCrady listed vital precautions that should be adopted by drivers.

THEY ARE: reduce speed when the streets are slippery; use tire chains, keep windshield wipers and defrosters in working condition to provide the best visibility and see that headlights are functioning.

He further pointed out that inadequate traction is a major cause of accidents in this kind of weather. "All of us as drivers should know what little traction we can get on snow or ice. The most reliable advice for preventing accidents when road surfaces are very slippery is to be extra careful, drive slowly, and apply brakes gently when coming to a stop," he declared.

Volume, Prices Both Slump In Livestock Sale

Both sales and prices slumped in the Wednesday Pickaway Livestock Cooperative Association stockyard auctions.

Volume suffered the sharpest decline in this week's market, tumbling from 1,872 head last Wednesday to 762 this week, a decrease of 1,110 head.

Prices in choicer grades of stock at the sales remained near normal in the market, although lesser grades topped downward.

One exception was noted. In the sale of calves, prices in choice grades increased from $2 to $3 per hundredweight this week, while substantial increase was noted in the lesser grades also.

Largest volume decrease, in any one category of sales this week was seen in the sale of hogs, which dropped 725 head Wednesday when only 350 reached market compared to the 1,075 sold last week.

Sheep and lambs receipts decreased 283 head Wednesday when only 169 were auctioned as compared to the 452 sold last week.

Cattle receipts tumbled 80 head this week, a total of 188 sold this week as compared to the 268 marketed last Wednesday.

CALF RECEIPTS dropped only 22 head in this week's sales, 55

GIFT STERLING
How shall I start a service of Sterling Silver Tableware Unless you are fortunate enough to be able to afford a complete service from the start we suggest you follow the place setting plan. Instead of purchasing just any pieces, you build by place settings. Start with as many as your budget permits, then add others weekly, monthly, or on gift occasions. A place setting consists of a knife, fork, teaspoon and salad fork, American Victorian and Modern Victorian and two lovely Sterling patterns by Lunt Silversmiths. A place setting of either of these patterns would make a wonderful Christmas gift to be always remembered and cherished. Cost $18.00 at L. M. BUTCH CO., Jewelers

For the Kiddies

HERE'S A LIST of gifts that the small brother would like to find under the Christmas tree on Christmas morning—large tops, $1.19; roller skates $2.98; basketballs, $1.98; ball and bat set 59 cents; double barrel pop gun $1.39, and single barrel gun for 69 cents all at Murphy's.

FOR THE NEW look in jewelry for the younger girls see the new flexible bracelet and lock-ets at the L. M. Butch Co. Jewelers. Quite the newest and prettiest jewelry that we have seen for the younger miss. $12.50 to $22.50.

WHEN IN MURPHY'S stop at the book department where you will find paint and coloring books, hard bound story books, and picture books for the smaller tots. A nice supply of intermediate books, inexpensive copies of Pinocchio, Little Women, Swiss Family Robinson, Treasure Island, Grimm's Fairy Tales, Tom Sawyer and many others.

IF WINTER COMES—and it always has and we have some snow which we always have had in winters past there will be sledding parties and joyous times for the kiddies. Good healthful sport, the kind that makes them grow into strong girls and boys. See the line of sleds at Kochheiser Hardware.

THAT GROWING youngster needs exercise so get him an Irish Mail, a sturdy well built toy that will withstand the wear and tear that youngsters can give them. Good strong back muscles will be developed by using this means of transportation. $14.95 at C. J. Schneider Furniture.

THE YOUNGSTER who expects to grow up and be an executive like his father would enjoy having the small duplicate of his dad's desk with a small chair to go with it. $7.95 at Mason Furniture.

IF GRANDMOTHER is looking for a present for the young grandson she would do well to select a Mickey Mouse wrist watch for him. All the kids want them and they really keep time too. At Kochheiser Hardware, $6.95.

CHRISTMAS SHOPPING

For Her

SHE WILL REMEMBER this Christmas and you if her gift is a new lamp. How they brighten up an otherwise dull room, use them in every part of the room so that every member of the family may read, sew or per-use his hobby undisturbed. C. J. Schneider Furniture have table lamps priced from $5.95 up. Some with brass bases, china, hand painted and even leather.

NOW IS THE time to shop Murphy's for your tree and home Christmas trimmings. Tree ornaments, Christmas snow and icicles, light sets, electric wreaths and many other Yuletide decorations.

MOTHER WOULD certainly appreciate a small gift of dishes, glassware, or kitchen utensils, in enamel, porcelain or aluminum from Murphy's Annex.

NOT SO LONG AGO a poll was taken to determine the most popular drink and coffee won by a large margin. It is commonly known as the universal breakfast beverage. A new coffee maker would be a most welcome gift for mother or the lady of the house. Harpster and Yost recommend a Sunbeam Coffee Master.

SOMETHING TO WORK with to practical minded persons is always a welcome gift. Boyds, Inc. have the electric iron that she may want. They carry Sunbeam, General Electric and Tiptoe, all good makes. You will be sure to find the one you want among this selection.

MURPHY'S HAVE A large supply of ladies handkerchiefs, white, colored borders, prints, colored linen, initialed priced from 10cents to 29 cents. Buy her several, gift boxes are free. See the complete line of boxed handkerchiefs for both him and her.

EVEN WITH THE best electric sweeper a small hand sweeper is practically a necessity in the well-kept homes of today. When children are small there are numerous occasions that call for the use of a hand sweeper daily. Griffith and Martin have Bissell's sweepers at $6.95 and $7.95.

A THOUGHTFUL GIFT for the lady of the house would be a small electric washer, one that would be used for the numerous occasions when only a few small things should be done up in between the regular laundry. These handy gadgets can be used in the kitchen sink with a minimum of time and trouble. Kochheiser Hardware.

GIFT STERLING

How shall I start a service of Sterling Silver Tableware Unless you are fortunate enough to be able to afford a complete service from the start we suggest you follow the place setting plan. Instead of purchasing just any pieces, you build by place settings. Start with as many as your budget permits, then add others weekly, monthly, or on gift occasions. A place setting consisting of a knife, fork, tea spoon and salad fork, American Victorian and Modern Victorian are two lovely Sterling patterns by Lunt Silversmiths. A place setting of either of these patterns would make a wonderful Christmas gift. It will be always remembered and cherished. Cost $18.00 at L. M. BUTCH CO., Jewelers

For Her

SHE WILL REMEMBER this Christmas and you if her gift is a new lamp. How they brighten up an otherwise dull room, use them in every part of the room so that every member of the family may read, sew or per-use his hobby undisturbed. C. J. Schneider Furniture have table lamps priced from $5.95 up. Some with brass bases, china, hand painted and even leather.

NOW IS THE time to shop Murphy's for your tree and home Christmas trimmings. Tree ornaments, Christmas snow and icicles, light sets, electric wreaths and many other Yuletide decorations.

MOTHER WOULD certainly appreciate a small gift of dishes, glassware, or kitchen utensils, in enamel, porcelain or aluminum from Murphy's Annex. NOT SO LONG AGO a poll was taken to determine the most popular drink and coffee won by a large margin. It is commonly known as the universal breakfast beverage. A new coffee maker would be a most welcome gift for mother or the lady of the house. Harpster and Yost recommend a Sun Beam Coffee Master.

SOMETHING TO WORK with to practical minded persons is always a welcome gift. Boyds, Inc. have the electric iron that she may want. They carry Sunbeam, General Electric and Tiptoe, all good makes. You will be sure to find the one you want among this selection.

MURPHY'S HAVE A large supply of ladies handkerchiefs, white, colored borders, prints, colored linens, initialed priced from 10c to 29c. Buy her several, gift boxes are free. See the complete line of boxed handkerchiefs for both him and her.

EVEN WITH THE best electric sweeper a small hand sweeper is practically a necessity in the well-kept homes of today. When children are small there are numerous occasions that call for the use of a hand sweeper daily. Griffith and Martin have Bissell's sweepers at $6.95 and $7.95.

A THOUGHTFUL GIFT for the lady of the house would be a small electric washer, one that would be used for the numerous occasions when only a few small things should be done up in between the regular laundry. These handy gadgets can be used in the kitchen sink with a minimum of time and trouble. Kochheiser Hardware.

BUZZER HALTS CHALLENGE

New Holland Nearly Nips Loop-Leading Circleville

Circleville alumni basketball team squeaked out a 41-38 win over New Holland in Pickaway Fairgrounds Coliseum Thursday to keep its unblemished leadership of the league.

In other Thursday league encounters, Monroe bested Scioto 27-23, Walnut edged Williamsport 34-33 and Pickaway defeated Jackson 21-16 in the last of the evening's tilts.

New Holland trailed Circleville by eight points at halftime in the title tilt, but increased the tempo in its offense in the last period to outscore the CHS'ers by five points. The New Holland drive was cut short by the buzzer, however, only three points away from the leaders.

Big Bill Weller copped the scoring honors in the encounter, netting 13 points for the Circleville aggregation. Jim McCown trailed with 10 points scored for New Holland.

In the Scioto-Monroe encounter, the Monroe five garnered an early lead over the Sciotoans and maintained it throughout the tilt. Scioto could never approach closer than three points to the leaders, dropping the contest in the final frame by a four point 27-23 margin.

Trapping Case Retrial Asked

Motion for a new trial has been filed by the attorney for two men from Columbus and Ashville who were fined $25 and costs each by Magistrate Oscar Root for trapping on Sunday.

The court found Malcomb Rathburn, 29, of Ashville, and Glenn Goldsberry, 22, of Columbus, guilty after both had pleaded innocent to accusations filed by another trapper.

Attorney Harry Margulis of Ashville, who represented the two men, asked Squire Root for a new trial, but the magistrate said he had requested a formal application before he would consider it.

The state was represented in the case by a lawyer from the attorney general's office who appeared in behalf of the Ohio conservation commission.

Oberlin Plans Big Celebration

BERLIN, Dec. 10—Oberlin college's basketball team of 1902-03, the first to represent Oberlin in intercollegiate competition will watch the 1948-49 squad play the season opener against the University of Rochester Saturday.

The original varsity will be on hand to help dedicate Oberlin's $125,000 field house. Yeoman students dressed in appropriate uniforms, will restage Oberlin's first intercollegiate game, a 55-6 victory over Baldwin-Wallace. Type of play and rules of that era will be used.

Shires Freed On $5,000 Bond

DALLAS, Tex., Dec. 10—Art (The Great) Shires, 42, was freed on $5,000 bond today, charged with the murder of W. H. (Hi) Erwin, 56, former pro ball player and umpire in the Texas League.

Shires, big league ball player of the early thirties and one-time member of the Columbus Red Birds, posted his bond yesterday. A habeas corpus suit filed when he was first arrested for beating Erwin, was dismissed when the murder charge was filed.

Hill Is Cited For 'Defense'

Harold "Sandy" Hill, ace offensive backfield man for the championship Circleville high school football team, has been given a defensive (that is right—defensive) berth on the second team of the Associated Press All-Ohio high school selection.

Hill was the sparkplug which powered this year's team into an undefeated and untied season, the first in 28 years. He scored 16 touchdowns, and kicked 16 extra points. He was voted the squad's most valuable player.

Junior, Senior County Court Tournaments Set Up By Coaches

Pickaway County coaches have tentatively selected the last two weeks in January for the junior high school basketball tournament.

According to John McPherson of Darby Township school, manager of the junior event, the coaches have agreed the tournament will be played on the Jackson Township high school court.

He said that the traditional foul shooting contest would be continued. It was won by Jack Timons of Monroe last January with a total of 22 tallies in 25 tries.

John Hardin, superintendent of Pickaway Township school and high school tournament manager, said this year's event would be held in the Fairgrounds Coliseum again, to begin Feb. 14. The setup will be different than last year's schedule, however, since local teams will play only every other night.

The Pickaway County teams this year will share the Coliseum with Class B schools from Fairfield County, who are to hold their tourney here, too.

THE SCHEDULE is set up as follows: Pickaway schools play Feb. 14, 16, 18, 21, 23 and 25 and the Fairfielders will play on Feb. 15, 17, 19, 22, 24 and 26.

Hardin said the tournament schedule would be drawn up on a double elimination basis, although winners of the losers bracket will not challenge winner's bracket champions. Winners of the loser's bracket will be accorded third place in the competition.

Focal point of the Pickaway County tourney will be presentation of the Bob Bowsher Memorial Trophy, a revolving cup donated by The Circleville Herald to the year's most outstanding player.

Jim Picklesimer of Williamsport was presented with the trophy at the end of the tournament last year for his stellar play on the court, his team spirit, cooperativeness with officials and his attitude both on and off the court.

The trophy was contributed to county competitive sports in honor of Robert Bowsher, outstanding Circleville high school athlete, the first of the war dead to be returned to Pickaway County soil.

Conn's Tell-Tale Fight Is Tonight Against Louis

CHICAGO, Dec. 10—The comeback trial for Billy Conn begins or ends here tonight, depending upon the attitude and the fists of World Heavyweight Champion Joe Louis.

When Billy meets the champion for the third time in their pugnaic careers, Louis' crown will not be on the line as it was in their other two encounters in 1941 and 1946. Louis kayoed the one-time challenger in each of those engagements.

Tonight's fight is scheduled as a six-round "no decision" exhibition. The contestants will wear 14-ounce gloves, known in the profession as "pillows," but no head protectors.

Louis is all too eager to prove that he is the same master that flattened Billy in their title bouts. If Conn performs impressively, he will be in line for a match with the survivor of an elimination bout between Ezzard Charles and Joe Baksi. That contest is scheduled for tonight in Madison Square Garden.

Should Conn throw a few punches too many that happen to land on the champion he would seek a match with the winner of the Charles-Baksi scrap. And then, he figures, comes a third chance at a title bout with Louis next June.

2 Men On Base And This Guy Wants To Sleep

MINNEAPOLIS, Dec. 10—It happened in the wee small hours of the morning at the minor league meetings here.

Jack Onslow, new Chicago White Sox manager, and Lefty Gomez, former New York Yankee pitching eccentric, had gotten into a florid argument as to what kind of pitch to throw in a certain tight situation.

Nothing would suffice but that they find Mike Kelly, Minneapolis' own baseball patriarch, and have him settle the question.

They found Kelly fast asleep in his hotel room behind a locked door.

Gomez rapped on the portal and called:

"Open up, Mike! We got something we want to ask you."

"Go home," Kelly groaned sleepily. "Go away. Go to bed."

"What?" croaked Gomez, "and leave two men on base?"

Hall Of Fame For Racing Seen

NEW YORK, Dec. 10—Plans for the establishment of a racing driver's hall of fame were set in motion today by the American Automobile Association.

A three-man committee—J. Edward Shipper, Detroit; A. C. Pillsbury, Los Angeles; and Ray Sherman, New York—has been appointed to work out details of the project.

Indianapolis, home of the famous speedway, and Philadelphia have been mentioned as possible sites.

Giants' Prexy Would Cut Squad

NEW YORK, Dec. 10—John Mara, president of the New York Giants, today advocated a reduction of the National Football League's player limit.

Mara said sentiment is growing among the club owners to cut the limit from the present number of 35 players to 33, or even to 30.

BUZZER HALTS CHALLENGE

New Holland Nearly Nips Loop-Leading Circleville

Circleville alumni basketball team squeaked out a 41-38 win over New Holland in Pickaway Fairgrounds Coliseum Thursday to keep its unblemished leadership of the league.

In other Thursday league encounters, Monroe bested Scioto 27-23, Walnut edged Williamsport 34-33 and Pickaway defeated Jackson 21-16 in the last of the evening's tilts.

New Holland trailed Circleville by eight points at halftime in the tilt, but increased the tempo in its offense in the last period to outscore the CHS'ers by five points. The New Holland drive was cut short by the buzzer, however, only three points away from the leaders.

Big Bill Weller copped the scoring honors in the encounter, netting 13 points for the Circleville aggregation. Jim McCown trailed with 10 points scored for New Holland.

In the Scioto-Monroe encounter, the Monroe five garnered an early lead over the Sciotoans and maintained it throughout the tilt. Scioto could never approach closer than three points to the leaders, dropping the contest in the final frame by a four point 27-23 margin.

JACK HIX of Monroe led in scoring during the match, posting 14 points.

Trapping Case Retrial Asked

Motion for a new trial has been filed by the attorney for two men from Columbus and Ashville who were fined $25 and costs each by Magistrate Oscar Root for trapping on Sunday.

The court found Malcolm Rathburn, 29, of Ashville, and Glenn Goldsberry, 22, of Columbus, guilty after both had pleaded innocent to accusations filed by another trapper.

Attorney Harry Margulis of Ashville, who represented the two men, asked Squire Root for a new trial, but the magistrate said he had requested a formal application before he would consider it.

The state was represented in the case by a lawyer from the attorney general's office who appeared in behalf of the Ohio conservation commission.

Oberlin Plans Big Celebration

OBERLIN, Dec. 10—Oberlin college's basketball team of 1902-03, the first to represent Oberlin in intercollegiate competition will watch the 1948-49 squad play the season opener against the University of Rochester Saturday.

The original varsity will be on hand to help dedicate Oberlin's $125,000 field house. Yeoman students dressed in appropriate uniforms, will re-stage Oberlin's first intercollegiate game, a 55-6 victory over Baldwin-Wallace. Type of play and rules of that era will be used.

Shires Freed On $5,000 Bond

DALLAS, Tex., Dec. 10—Art (The Great) Shires, 42, was freed on $5,000 bond today, charged with the murder of W. H. (Hi) Erwin, 56, former pro ball player and umpire in the Texas League.

Shires, big league ball player of the early thirties and one-time member of the Columbus Red Birds, posted his bond yesterday. A habeas corpus suit filed when he was first arrested for beating Erwin, was dismissed when the murder charge was filed.

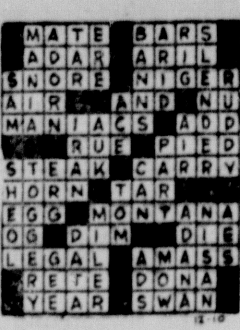

Hill Is Cited For 'Defense'

Harold "Sandy" Hill, ace offense backfield man for the championship Circleville high school football team, has been given a defensive (that is right—defensive) berth on the second team of the Associated Press All-Ohio high school selection.

Hill was the sparkplug which powered this year's team into an undefeated and untied season, the first in 28 years. He scored 16 touchdowns, and kicked 16 extra points. He was voted the squad's most valuable player.

Junior, Senior County Court Tourneys Set Up By Coaches

Pickaway County coaches have tentatively selected the last two weeks in January for the junior high school basketball tournament.

According to John McPherson of Darby Township school, manager of the junior event, the coaches have agreed the tourney will be played on the Jackson Township high school court.

He said that the traditional foul shooting contest would be continued. It was won by Jack Timmons of Monroe last January with a total of 22 tallies in 25 tries.

John Hardin, superintendent of Pickaway Township school and high school tournament manager, said this year's event would be held in the Fairgrounds Coliseum again, to begin Feb. 14. The setup will be different than last year's schedule, however, since local teams will play only every other night.

Homer Reber Named Pickaway Chairman For Red Cross

Officers Named By Chapter

Yule Stocking For Vets Readied

Homer Reber of Walnut Township has been elected chairman of Pickaway County chapter of American Red Cross. He was elected at a reorganization meeting replacing A. W. Bosworth.

Others elected to fill executive posts were Mrs. W. D. Radcliff of Williamsport to be vice-chairman replacing Roscoe Warren, and George L. Schaub of Circleville as treasurer replacing J. P. Noecker.

Members at large who were elected to the executive committee were Noecker, John Heiskell and Bosworth. Following is a list of new board members:

Rev. C. A. Holmquist of Ashville, Mrs. William E. Arnold of Ashville Route 1, C. M. Reid of Circleville Route 3, Robert Kirk of New Holland, Mrs. George H. Armstrong of Laurelville Route 1, Mrs. A. W. Marr of Circleville and Mrs. Harold Bainbridge of Circleville.

The County Red Cross chapter under the Executive Secretary Mary Lutz currently is engaged in making up Christmas stockings for delivery to the veterans hospital in Chillicothe.

Woman Denies Leaving Child

CINCINNATI, Dec. 10—A 34-year-old woman who pleaded innocent to a charge of abandoning her new-born child in an ash can will be given a hearing next Wednesday.

Mrs. Shirley Barr, of Dayton, Ky., was granted the continuance after her plea. Patrolman Bradley Mathis said Mrs. Barr confessed giving birth to a daughter in the women's restroom of the Dixie Terminal, placing it in an ashcan, and then leaving.

She told police that the father of the child was a 37-year-old Daytonian who did not know of her condition.

ALMOST FULLY RECOVERED from injuries received when she leaped from the Russian Consulate window in New York, Mrs. Oksana Kasenkina (center) prepares to leave Roosevelt Hospital. The Soviet school teacher, whose desperate effort to achieve freedom in a free land attracted international attention, is escorted by Dr. Eugene Watters and Virginia Muldoon. She must temporarily use a cane. (International)

Marriage Ban Easing In Germany

U.S. Turning Head At Fraternization

FRANKFURT, Dec. 10—The last vestiges of the Army's non-fraternization program, aimed at limiting German-American marriages, are disappearing.

Reliable sources report that the U. S. military government is now permitting or shutting its eyes to marriages between American businessmen and their German sweethearts.

Military government sources said that American officials are now considering further lifting the marriage ban as regards civilian personnel attached to the Army.

It is further reported that the newly-married couples are being allowed to stay in the U. S. zone indefinitely, whereas previously they were forced to leave in 30 days.

The impending change in the fraternization rulings will be the third since the occupation began.

The relaxing of the marital restrictions will evidently apply only to American citizens. Thus far there is no indication that British or French nationals will get a similar "green light."

THE PROJECTED changes concerning American-German marriages will not, according to informed sources, make the German wife eligible to the privileges of a U. S. dependent in an occupied country.

Legal experts believe that the German wives could eventually become citizens as non-quota immigrants.

The American switch in position has not been announced publicly, and is being kept quiet, because of the flood of marriage applications such a move would bring.

The only occupation zone still maintaining a strict non-fraternization policy is the Russian.

U.S. Plan Aide Said In Prison

VIENNA, Dec. 10—Informed quarters said today that Margarete Ottlinger, Austrian Marshall Plan expert, has been sent to Soviet zone prison to serve a 20-year term for espionage.

The woman disappeared in Vienna several weeks ago and the Soviets, who were reported to have kidnapped her, refused to divulge any information concerning her whereabouts.

Reliable Austrian sources said that she is currently at the Soviet Civilian prison camp at Sopron, near the Hungarian border.

3 Chain Gang Fugitives Held

CLEVELAND, Dec. 10—Three fugitives from Southern chain gangs were in Cuyahoga County jail today after a court of appeals granted them a stay of execution.

Frederick Fox, 21, who fled from Florida, and Robert Woodall, 31, and Eugene Quillian, 27, who fled Alabama chain gangs, were granted an indefinite postponement of their return to prison sentences yesterday.

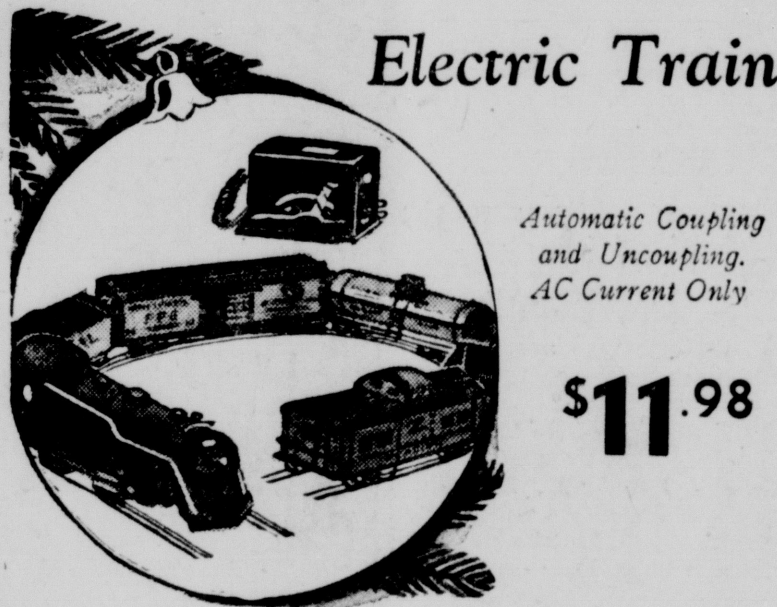

The court of appeals ordered the stay of execution until the court hears their pleas of prison camp cruelty.
